SOCIAL MEDIA AND DRUGS

CNOA and HIDTA are jointly hosting "Social Media and Drugs"

Social Media and Drugs – The internet and the many sites such as My Space and Craig's List, have become very popular with criminals as a way to facilitate the sale of drugs and the commission of many crimes. This new criminal activity presents many challenges to law enforcement and to remain effective, you must stay current in new technologies and the investigative tools that are currently being used.

The instructor will provide useful information to law enforcement personnel who have a need to know about the many social networking websites. Those attending will learn how to gain user access, what services are generally available within the websites and other tips and tricks to conduct investigations and use social networking websites as an investigative tool.

Instructor:

Tom Lorenz is a 26 year veteran of the Glendale Police Department. He has 10 years experience in narcotics with assignments with the DEA and LA Impact Task Force. He has investigated over 1000 cases from street level narcotics to major cases involving Mexican and Colombian distribution organizations. Sgt. Lorenz is a certified as a DAR and DRE instructor and was on the original DAR instructional staff. Sgt. Lorenz has lectured throughout the United States and has taught for CNOA for over 10 years. He is a regular instructor for WSIN and DRE schools throughout California.
